

Names Of New Signal Depot Witnesses To Remain Secret

Several Feel They May Be 'Harrassed'

SCRANTON, Pa., April 27 (AP)—U. S. Atty. J. Julius Levy announced today that in the future his office will not disclose for publication names of witnesses appearing before the federal grand jury now investigating the Army Signal Corps Depot at Tobyhanna.

The federal prosecutor said his decision is based on complaints from some witnesses who have appeared and testified and have objected to what they describe as "newspaper notoriety" in connection with their appearance.

Levy said some of the witnesses declined to identify themselves, they feared they would be known, via newspapers, that they gave testimony.

Negative
Asked if any witnesses have been "harrassed" or threatened, Levy quickly replied in the negative.

"If any such incidents are called to my attention you can be sure that they will be called to the attention of the court within a matter of minutes," he declared.

The grand jury, now in its third week of investigation, is in charge of Federal Judge John W. Murphy.

Since the probe got under way, Levy has made it a practice to identify witnesses and, in some cases, their occupations. But at no time has he commented on why they were subpoenaed or what they may have said in respect to the probe.

Levy asked the co-operation of newspapers in protecting the identification of witnesses but at the same time readily agreed that newsmen were free to approach any prospective witnesses and ask any pertinent questions.

Labor Unions To Steer Straight Path

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
THE head of the combined AFL-CIO says there is not enough difference between the Republican and Democratic parties to "attract the trade union movement to 'buy' either one" in 1956.

Speaking at the legislative conference of the AFL-CIO Industrial Union Dept. in Washington Friday, President George Meany said:

"We couldn't 'buy' the Democratic party with their 'Dixiecrats' and their record on civil rights, and we couldn't 'buy' the Republican party with its subservience to big business."

In 1952 both the AFL and the CIO, then separate organizations, endorsed the unsuccessful Democratic nominee, Adlai Stevenson. Leaders of the 15-million-member combined organization are to meet in June to decide whether a special convention should be called this year to endorse a candidate for 1956.

Earlier
Earlier this week Walter Reuther, head of the United Auto Workers and vice president of the AFL-CIO, said he might bolt the Democratic party unless it took a forthright stand on civil rights.

Stevenson's campaign manager, James A. Finnegan, said meanwhile that his analysis of last Tuesday's primaries in Pennsylvania, Massachusetts and Alaska showed that Stevenson's support "has increased since 1952, while that of both President Eisenhower and Sen. Kefauver has declined."

Finnegan said in a Chicago statement that Republican National Chairman Leonard W. Hall, in making optimistic interpretations of the primary voting, was "up to his old game of comparing primary returns with general election totals, and some newspapers have been taken in by it."

Easton Boy Succumbs To Pneumonia

EASTON, Pa., April 27 (AP)—Northampton County coroner George Kametz said today that William C. Meuller, 5, whose body was recovered from the Delaware River Tuesday, died of acute pneumonia.

State police reported Tuesday that Alfred C. Meuller, 59, had admitted throwing his son's body into the river.

Prison
Meuller and his wife, Gladys, 24, are being held in Northampton County prison in default of $1,500 bail each on charges of neglect. They had first reported the boy missing.

The couple's eldest child, Alfred Jr., 6, was taken to Easton Hospital. Authorities said he was "terribly underweight and running a fever." Dr. Merton Cohen of Easton said the boy weighed only 24 pounds.

Favor Highway Bill

WASHINGTON, April 27 (AP)—Pennsylvania's congressional delegation was solidly in favor of a long-range highway bill which passed by a House vote of 388-19 today. The measure was sent to the Senate.

10 Persons Perish In Explosion

PULASKI, Va., April 27 (AP)—A tremendous explosion and fire wrecked a three-story brick apartment house today, killing 10 persons, including a woman and her three children. Seven others were injured.

The 6 a.m. explosion was touched off when restaurant owner W. J. Mehaffey, 75, struck a match to light a gas water heater. The blast was felt for an area of three blocks around the building.

In a short time the apartment house was reduced to a heap of rubble and it was not until late in the afternoon that workmen with earth-moving equipment and picks and shovels recovered the 10th body.

Lifts Roof
The blast lifted the roof and let it crumple back into the building, said Mrs. Glenn Eller, who was passing by on her way to work at a hosiery mill. "Then it seemed to fall apart."

A state police trooper said the building must have been full of gas since it went off almost like a bomb.

The dead:
Mrs. Eugene Welch; her daughter, Elizabeth, 22; and her sons, Victor, 12, and Garland, 16.

Mrs. Helen Denton, 51, and her grandson, Clarke Mabe, 9. Mrs. George Morris, 51. Mrs. Minnie Akers, 74. Mrs. Rose Matherly, 73. George Goad, 79.

Most seriously hurt was Mrs. Nora Davis, 59. She was reported in serious condition with burns and multiple fractures.

Injured
Others hospitalized were Mehaffey, extensive burns; Nora Jean Mabe, 12, fractured pelvis when blown through the window of the room in which her brother died; and Eugene Welch, 55, whose wife and children were lost, burns and possible internal injuries.

Two other nonresidents injured by debris were Mrs. Leona Cruff and George Oliver, who suffered only minor hurts.

Joseph Lytton, a nonresident, suffered cuts, a broken arm and head injuries when struck by cascading bricks and debris from the blast.

Greenglass Reviews Story Of Rosenberg Spy Trial

WASHINGTON, April 27 (AP)—David Greenglass took a painful look into the past today and said sometimes "I have been sorry" about helping send his sister, Ethel Rosenberg, to the electric chair as an atom spy for Russia.

But he said she and her husband, Julius, could have saved themselves from a Sing Sing execution just by putting up a hand, saying "stop" and telling the truth.

"It's a hard thing to be called a murderer by people," Greenglass told the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee. "But it is a much harder thing to deliberately martyr yourself for a completely erroneous cause. That is the most hypocritical and ridiculous thing you can do."

Witness
Greenglass was the key witness against the Rosenbergs in a sensational trial in 1951 that resulted in conviction and their execution in 1953. He, himself, is a confessed and convicted spy who helped fill secrets of the atom bomb at Los Alamos, N.M., where he was stationed as an Army sergeant.

The witness now is serving a 15-year sentence at the federal penitentiary at Lewisburg, Pa. Like Harry Gold, who related a somewhat parallel story of Soviet espionage yesterday, Greenglass was brought here under guard to help the subcommittee explore what its counsel, Robert Morris, called the "general nature of the Soviet conspiracy."

Gold sat a few feet away, puffing on a pipe, while Greenglass related that his brother-in-law got him into espionage.

Greenglass told of passing secret information to Rosenberg on four occasions—including a drawing of the atomic bomb based on information and conversations at Los Alamos. He said Rosenberg told him that he—Rosenberg—had stolen an actual proximity fuse for the Soviets while serving as a Signal Corps inspector.

Word
From Rosenberg, Greenglass said, he had word that Soviet espionage agents were operating through the Russian Embassy in Washington, satellite embassies, and even those of the Western Allies.

Area Debris Clearance Project 'Progressing Satisfactorily'

STATE Department of Forests and Waters announced yesterday "a considerable amount" of debris clearance and channel work has already been accomplished here and current projects are "progressing satisfactorily."

The department said further it is "confident" that a great deal more work will be completed this summer, provided it has the necessary cooperation of the public and local officials.

The local flood control office disclosed that a channel improvement project now is in progress on Pocono Creek from a point some 3,000 feet below Bridge St., continuing upstream to the roller skating rink.

Workmen are in the process of completing another channel project in Paradise Valley. A third has been finished in Tobyhanna Creek, the office reported.

A dike repair job along the Lackawaxen River in Hawley also was completed this week, the department said.

Leaders Of Russia Sail For Home

LONDON, April 27 (AP)—Russia's leaders sailed for home today after voicing a belief their talks with Prime Minister Eden have served the cause of peace. And Eden said tonight "it may be that the immediate dangers of war have receded."

"The London discussions could be important," Eden told the British people in a brief television appearance. Clearly referring to the preservation of world peace, he added: "They could be the beginning of the beginning."

Premier Nikolai Bulganin and Communist party leader Nikita Khrushchev had raised British hopes with a last-minute promise at a farewell news conference that the Soviet Union would welcome a ban on arms shipments to the Middle East—provided other nations were similarly pledged.

Experts
Some experts on East-West affairs considered Khrushchev's reply to a question on that point as perhaps the most significant public statement the Russians made during their 10-day visit.

"We in our own country do not ship arms to anybody and we would like to see no shipments at all. But such shipments are taking place. I think we would answer wrongly if we were to say that we would not sell arms to the states which urge us to do so, and the reason for that is that shipments are being made by other countries. If it were possible to agree, through the United Nations or otherwise, that this would not take place, we would only welcome that and be prepared to take part in such an undertaking, which would help bring about peaceful conditions in the troubled areas of the world."

Praise
Winding up their tour with praise for British hospitality, the Russian leaders left a Britain keyed to a new "spirit of London" in world affairs—guarded hope mixed with fear Moscow may once again disillusion the West.

Bulganin admitted their negotiations with Eden had sometimes struck "underwater rocks." But Moscow was already preparing a triumphal reception for communism's supersedesmen.

There were prospects for further mutual efforts toward settling British-Russian differences with Eden's acceptance of an invitation to visit Moscow. No date has yet been fixed.

One result of the talks, he reported, should be a real improvement in British-Russian trading in nonstrategic goods, a trade which he said can help build lasting peace.

"We will not be parted from our friends," he said, clearly directing that assurance to the United States. "Nor will we abandon our vital interests, but we will seek agreement where we can."

High Schools May Save Day

HARRISBURG, April 27 (AP)—The Public Instruction Department reported today it is studying the possibility of using high school buildings to key cities across the state to relieve overcrowding in the 14 state teachers colleges.

Dr. Ralph C. Swan, acting superintendent of public instruction, said this plan and others are being reviewed by the department in an effort to use public schools "for some training beyond the high school level."

Two Seamen Held

PHILADELPHIA, April 27 (AP)—Two Belgian merchant seamen were held in $1,500 bond today on charges of smuggling watches valued at $1,500 from Hong Kong.

Area Debris Clearance Project 'Progressing Satisfactorily'

Also slated to begin next week is a channel dredging project in Middle Creek at Hawley.

In the near future, the department hopes to launch channel projects on the Broadheads at Canadensis and in the vicinity of the Monroe County Water Co. springs. It also plans to begin such a project on Pocono Creek at Tannersville.

About a half-dozen more channel improvement projects are also planned and will be started when men and equipment are available, the local flood control office disclosed.

U. S. Cautious On Soviet Move

WASHINGTON, April 27 (AP)—The United States reacted with more suspicion than hope today to Russia's reported readiness to support a United Nations embargo on arms shipments to the Middle East.

The Soviet attitude expressed by Communist party boss Nikita Khrushchev at a London news conference had all the earmarks of a trap designed to cut off United States and British military support for anti-Communist countries in the strategic Middle East.

In essence, it looks like a Soviet device for breaking up the Baghdad Pact by saying to the United States and Britain: This is the Moscow price for halting Communist arms shipments to Egypt.

Authorities
If that is the Russian plan, highly placed authorities said here today the United States would have no part of it. They declared that this country would not try to settle one problem—that of Soviet bloc arms shipments to Egypt—by creating another, meaning to weaken over-all resistance in the region to Soviet pressures.

Officials here said there is always a possibility that Khrushchev and Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin are seriously interested in peace in Palestine. If that is true, they said, the London comment could have very great importance for the future of an Arab-Israeli settlement. The American government has repeatedly blamed the Soviet bloc sale of arms to Egypt for the unbalancing of power in the area and for increased dangers of war since last fall.

Policy
The Soviet policy, which had been strongly pro-Arab for six months, began to shift on the eve of the Khrushchev-Bulganin visit to London. The Moscow Foreign Office announced Russia would support the United Nations peace efforts. The critical question beyond that, however, has been: Would Russia's new policy go to the extent of cutting off the shipment of arms from Czechoslovakia to Egypt?

The answer to the question depends on what Russia's real intentions in the Middle East are and no policymaker here seems to be sure on this point.

Hearing
In another Senate hearing, Lt. Gen. Donald L. Putt said "we couldn't help but be disturbed" about the progress of U.S. Air power.

Putt, deputy chief of staff in charge of development for the Air Force, commented without elaboration before a Senate Appropriations subcommittee which is considering a $4,625,000 request for aircraft development and research.

The general's statement followed a remark by Sen. Dirksen (R-Ill.) who said he is concerned over reports unfavorably comparing U.S. Air power with that of a "certain country."

LeMay testified at an open session called by Chairman Symington (D-Mo) in the Armed Services group's inquiry into the relative strength of the U.S. and Russian air forces.

LeMay was aided in his testimony today by Brig. Gen. Horace Wade, SAC's personnel director, who said the professional calibre of the U.S. Air Force is being "constantly diluted" while the Russians "do not have the same type of problem."

Witnesses
Both witnesses said the Russians are able to keep their trained men in uniform because they make their air force an elite outfit whose officers are among the country's best-paid citizens and enjoy many extra privileges.

LeMay and Wade joined in proposing a five-point program aimed at keeping more American Air officers and men in the service. They urged:

1. A revised pay scale with higher compensation for those with especially valuable skills.

2. Better family housing.

3. Complete medical care for dependents.

4. Expanded commissary and post exchange service.

5. Educational benefits comparable to those conferred on war veterans.

Film Actress Wins Divorce

LOS ANGELES, April 27 (AP)—Actress Barbara Ruick, 23, today won an interlocutory divorce from actor Robert Horton, 31, testifying that at times he treated her as a total stranger.

They were married in Las Vegas, Nev., on Aug. 22, 1953, and separated last March 9. Miss Ruick charged cruelty.

Meanwhile, the department further reported it is continuing debris clearance projects in several areas. Two crews are working on Pocono Creek; two on Paradise; four on Broadheads; one on Buck Hill Creek; one on Big Bushkill; two on Wallenpaupack Creek, and one on Mill Creek.

Revenue Board Reveals Regulations

HARRISBURG, April 27 (AP)—The new 3 per cent sales tax was spelled out today to cover the rental or leasing of taxable items as well as their actual purchase.

The first of a series of tentative sales tax regulations handed down by the Revenue Department made it clear that rental of such items as an automobile or boat and leasing of office equipment are subject to the tax.

This differs from the old 1 per cent sales tax which expired last Aug. 31. Under that law, these rentals were exempt.

The department specifically listed these examples of taxable rentals: Motor vehicles, trailers, airplanes, boats and canoes, office equipment, commercial equipment and machines, radio and television sets, formal clothes, scientific equipment.

Cameras
Cameras, projectors, towels, aprons and linen supplies, athletic and sporting equipment, bowling shoes, roller and ice skates, horses pillows and household appliances.

Rental or leasing of these items contracted prior to March 7—the effective date of the sales tax law—is taxable for that part of the rental payments attributable since the law took effect.

Issuance of the regulations—the first group covered nine sections of the tax—came as a surprise at this time. They were not expected to be made public until after the legislature disposes finally of sales tax amendments.

Joseph C. Snyder, sales tax bureau director, emphasized that the regulations were tentative and that may be changed after amendments are completed.

Gerald Gleeson, secretary of revenue, said further regulations will be drafted after the amendments are passed by the legislature.

In another development, Republican and Democratic legislative leaders conferred with Justice Department officials in drafting final technical amendments to the sales tax law.

Segregation Still Problem

MONTGOMERY, Ala., April 27 (AP)—Bus company and city officials met again today but were unable to break a stalemate in talks on bus segregation.

Mayor W. A. Gayle later issued a statement saying Montgomery City Lines "will be required" to obey city and state segregation laws. The company has announced it will no longer enforce segregation.

Negroes continued their five-month-old boycott of the buses, despite the integration order issued late Monday night.

Commission
The commission earlier had threatened to seek revocation of the bus franchise unless the company rescinded its integration policy.

B. W. Franklin, vice president of National City Lines Inc. of Chicago which owns the Montgomery company, declined to comment.

Police Commissioner Clyde Sellers has ordered the arrest of any passenger who mixes with the opposite race and any bus driver who permits it. City and state laws require segregation on all public transportation. The commission insists the statutes are valid no matter what the U.S. Supreme Court may have ruled in other states.

Official Count Of Election Now Underway

HARRISBURG, April 27 (AP)—The official count started today in the Commonwealth on votes cast in the narrow victory of Judge Benjamin R. Jones, Luzerne County, over Judge Henry X. O'Brien, Allegheny County, for the Republican nomination to the State Supreme Court.

Almost complete returns gave Jones, who was backed by the state GOP organization, a win over O'Brien by a margin of 16,752 votes.

Unaccounted
As late as tonight, 54 districts remained unaccounted for. Forty-one of them were in counties where the balloting in last Tuesday's primary was favorable to O'Brien by a ratio of 3-1.

Sunday School Lesson

By Newman Campbell
Scripture—Acts 8:4-40

PERSECUTION in Jerusalem caused the disciples of Christ's Gospel to scatter. Philip went to Samaria to preach, and "the people with one accord gave heed unto those things which Philip spake, hearing and seeing the miracles which he did. . . . And there was great joy in that city."

In Samaria there was a man named Simon who practiced sorcery and had the people bewitched. He was highly regarded, the people thinking that he was a "great power of God." He was very conceited, thinking that he really was "some great one."

Hearing Philip preach the Gospel of Christ and making many converts—men and women—and seeing them baptized, Simon believed also and was baptized. He stayed with Philip, wondering much at beholding the miracles Philip performed.

When word reached the church in Jerusalem of Philip's success in Samaria, Peter and John were sent there, and when they found that the new converts were baptized but had not received the Holy Ghost, they knelt in prayer, then laid their hands on the newly made believers, and they too received the power of the Holy Spirit.

Simon, looking on in wonder, yearned to be like the apostles and be able to bring the Holy Ghost to those who believed by the laying on of hands. As was natural to a man of his nature, he thought he could buy this great gift, and so he offered money to obtain it.

Peter rebuked Simon severely, telling him that his heart was not right in the sight of God, because he had offered money to buy that which was not to be purchased with lucre. It was a free gift from the Father.

Peter told Simon to pray for forgiveness of his sin, and Simon answered by asking Peter to pray to the Lord for him. Then Peter and John returned to Jerusalem, preaching in many towns of Samaria as they went.

The angel of the Lord told Philip to go south on the way that led from Jerusalem to Gaza, an ancient city, famous in the story of Samson, and situated on the southernmost end of Palestine. Philip started immediately and saw "a man of Ethiopia, an eunuch of great authority under Candace, queen of Ethiopia, who had the charge of all her treasure."

The Ethiopian had been to Jerusalem to worship, and as he sat in his chariot he was reading the Book of Isaiah. Philip noticed, Philip asked him if he understood what he read, and he said he could not without someone to guide him.

So Philip joined the eunuch in the chariot, and as they went on their way he explained the text of the Scripture to him, telling him that the prophecy in Isaiah was of the coming of Jesus. Telling this devout man of the gospel of Jesus Christ, Philip convinced him.

Coming to a pool of water the eunuch asked if he might be baptized there. Philip said: "If thou believest with all thine heart, thou mayest," and the eunuch answered, "I believe that Jesus Christ is the son of God." So he was baptized and went on his way rejoicing.

Philip also went his way, north to Caesarea, preaching the gospel as he went. He had, as we all should have, but many modern Christians do not, a thorough knowledge of the Scriptures.

Shakespeare said: "There is some soul of goodness in things evil, would we observantly distill it out." Religious persecution is a terrible evil, but our lesson points out that in the scattering of the apostles because of persecution, Christianity was carried to many lands.

Light beyond the shadows

People who see the Light that shines beyond the present shadows can walk safely along the way of life. Those who stumble in darkness and fear are the people who lack the vision of faith.

A man named Saul of Tarsus groped in the darkness of the pagan world. His heart was filled with hate and he saw them stone the servants of God. Then he saw the Light and became a new man.

The skies of life are often filled with clouds and storm. Strife and hatred, selfishness and meanness, suffering and despair, rob the day of its brightness and fill the world with woe.

But those who have the penetrating vision of faith need fear no harm. If they keep their eyes fixed on the Light that lies beyond the shadows and trust in God, they may walk in the perfect security of faith.

The blackness of night cannot quench the Light of faith; the sweeping storms of adversity cannot blot it out. It shines on undimmed into the perfect day, when the storms depart and the shadows fade away.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

School Authority Took Only Course Within Law In Awarding Contract

Stroudsburg Area School Authority took the only course open to it, under school law, when it awarded an electrical contract for its school building program to the William Donmoyer firm of Allentown.

Donmoyer submitted the low bid of $87,886 for the electrical installation in the proposed new grade school and the two-wing high school addition. The construction contract was one of four awarded Thursday night. In addition, the authority awarded bonds in the amount of $1,395,000 to finance the projects.

A representative of the local Building Trade Union Council had advised the authority and the Stroud Union School Board previously that union labor would not work on the job while non-union men were employed on the grounds that he was non-union.

But under the state school code, the authority—like the school board—is required to award a contract to the "lowest responsible bidder." Since Donmoyer was the lowest bidder and was found responsible, in being able to post bond guaranteeing he will complete the work, the authority was tightly bound by law to let the contract to Donmoyer.

Russian Leaders Echo Same Old Line Voiced By Josef Stalin 20 Years Ago

Nikita Khrushchev, Soviet Communist Party Chief, and Russian Premier Bulganin yesterday sailed for home and left behind a declaration that their visit to Great Britain had served "the cause of peace."

Khrushchev also was quoted as saying the Soviet Union would welcome a United Nations ban on the shipment of arms to the Middle East—provided other nations are similarly pledged.

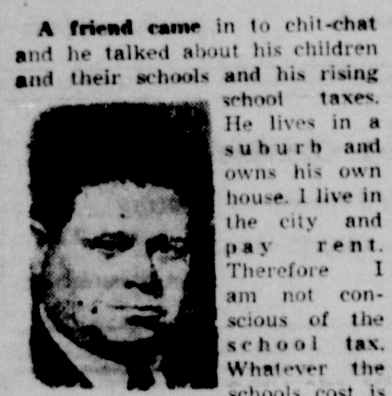

Throughout his 10-day visit, Khrushchev peddled his old "peaceful co-existence" line of goods as well as his hydrogen bomb threats. His newest propaganda version went something like this:

"You have to live with the neighbor that God has sent you and not with the neighbor you would like to have. . . . You gentlemen do not like communism. We do not like capitalism. But we must live in peace . . . there is only one way out—peaceful co-existence."

That is suspicious talk from a lifelong Bolshevik and a dedicated atheist.

George Sokolsky Says . . .

Real Problem Of Schools Is Not Buildings But Teachers, In Opinion Of Columnist

A friend came in to chit-chat and he talked about his children and their schools and his rising school taxes.

He lives in a suburb and owns his own house. I live in the city and pay rent. Therefore I am not conscious of the school tax. Whatever the school's cost is, the school's cost is included in my rent. When the rent goes up, I say that the landlord is gouging me.

My friend pays his school tax directly and is very much concerned about it. As a matter of fact, he pays the tax but does not send his children to the public school. His children go to private schools. So he pays twice. I pay three times, but am never conscious of it. I pay a school tax in Massachusetts; I pay rent in New York which includes the tax. I have sent my children to school of my choice.

In we speak of a free school system, we really mean a school system supported by taxes. There is nothing free about it nor could it be free, for somebody has to pay for everything. For my parents, in their immigrant simplicity, the school system was free. In another sense, namely, that parents were free to send their children to school. They came from a country in which secular education for their kind of people was forbidden. And rents were then low and the dollar was worth a great deal and the world was good to live in.

Also the teaching in the school was very good because there was no money business. Children were taught to respect their parents and that cleanliness was next to godliness and that an honest man earns a living and if you misbehave you got whacked good and hard—so generally a child behaved unless he expected to be a pickpocket or a gangster.

These days, the teachers are afraid of their pupils who often regard themselves as either quiz kids or blackboard jurglers. So the parents in my city try to get their children into private schools or parochial schools which they think are better and some of them really are better. But those parents who believe that they are saving their children from "the shame and horror of the Left Wing" by sending them to fancy schools are likely to be fooled because intellectual fashions, like women's styles, are all-pervasive and what is found in the public schools will be found in the private schools, except the accent is different. I know of a girl's private school where current events and American history have often been taught by an imported foreigner, and I know of a boy's school where a teacher of religion debunked the Bible because he taught by the shock method, by which he hoped to open the boys' minds to ideas and differences of opinion. All they got casts, the omission of a wedding guest's middle initial, wrong advice to the lovelorn and mistakes in the obituary column.

He can devote his life to crusading for the rights of man and be recalled years later chiefly as a man who guessed wrong on a local election, reported a ball game for only the first eight-and-a-half innings or permitted an error in a tide table. He can ruin his health battling for his community, his state and his nation and be denounced because the swallows arrived at Capistrano a day later than announced on Page 11. Once a man succumbs to temptation and becomes a newspaper publisher, he knows he has abandoned all idea of restful nights and sound sleep. He has to accept insomnia as a trade symbol. That it could not compromise the issue should be fully understood by everyone, especially the union men whose employers hold by far the major portion of the contracts, both in number and in size. Four contracts covering construction of the grade school and the high school addition were let in the sum of $1,096,611.

Both school structures are badly needed to house the district's growing student enrollment. It is imperative that work is started as quickly as possible. And once the two projects are under way, there should be no interference or interruption to delay the completion date as much as one day.

The school authority has met its obligation in proceeding with the award of contracts along the pattern established by law. The contractors now have a responsibility to begin actual construction work. Not to be overlooked is the obligation facing workmen. There is a responsibility to their children and their neighbor's children that transcends every other consideration once work on the project has started. They can rise in the estimation of their fellow citizens by meeting the uncompromising situation with a spirit of cooperation. Let us hope that such will be the case.

Medical Checkups Bare The 'Ifs' In Our Health

It isn't easy for a wife to keep her husband in the state to which he was once accustomed—a state of health. Suppose he is working too hard—it's just a little too hard. Suppose he plans to skip the vacation again this year—it's such a little vacation. No, he isn't indispensable at the office—but maybe they need him a little bit more than she imagines. Anyhow, he can't see any way out of the predicament, not right now.

A checkup? What for? Just because a man is putting on a little weight, getting a little gray, maybe showing irritation now and then over little things, WHO IS SICK? Not him. This wily notion of trotting a man off for a medical checkup every two minutes is (1) unnecessary, (2) expensive, and (3) he isn't going away.

Four hundred twelve "executive type" men were recently examined by a team of specialists in New York dramatizing the American Cancer Society's month-long crusade for a "checkup and a check."

Only 68 of these men were found to have perfect health. Two hundred fifty-six had serious or potentially serious illness, including diabetes, heart disease, ulcers, high blood pressure, and one case of active tuberculosis.

Included in this number were five cases of "probable" skin cancer and 48 potentially pre-cancerous conditions. None of these men had previous inkling of this threat to life. They had "felt fine." They just hadn't needed a medical checkup recently, volunteering for this mass examination out of willingness to assist the Cancer Society in helping others.

Certainly there is no greater plague than the company of hypochondriacs who dole and dwell on their always precarious states of health. Those seekers after the headache pill and surgical reminiscence, whose faces are as long as their tales, whose speciality is specialists. Hypochondria is not on the map of the state of health.

Those who are able to dismiss all thought of illness from their minds, as mortal error, have their own good answer to what constitutes a state of health.

But the state of mind that keeps the head of a household—any member of it, for that matter—from having regular physical checkups is neither optimism nor the enjoyment of pessimism. Men do worry about their health, much more than we imagine. And much of that worry is quite useless, as they could discover by occasional thorough examinations. Why not get confirmation for one's attitude—good or bad? Then that worrying time could be put to happy account. If the report were "perfect," what a lift it would give. If some slight condition needed treatment, how much better one would feel, having got it. And if—but then, you know the if's of cancer. "If caught in time."

Robert S. Allen Reports

Johnson Mapping Strategy For Cut In Personal Taxes

Washington, April 27: There will definitely be a congressional drive to cut personal income taxes this year.

Those front-page reports to the contrary are premature. House Democratic leaders have agreed among themselves to make a militant fight for a tax slash. They are secretly planning the same kind of head-on showdown with President Eisenhower on this issue as occurred on the farm bill he vetoed.

Still undetermined is the timing and extent of their contemplated reduction. Most favored is a flat $100 increase in personal exemption; that is, raising the existing exemption from $600 to $700.

That's what the House chiefs are discussing with Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon Johnson. The Texas, who spearheaded the stormy battle for 90 percent farm price supports, is in hearty accord with the backstage proposal to cut personal taxes.

"If you will put such a bill through the House," Johnson said, "I think I can guarantee the Senate will also pass it. Certainly nothing will be left undone on that."

Johnson's wily strategy is to make Senator Walter George, highly esteemed and influential Georgian, the floor leader of this legislation. As second-ranking member of the Finance Committee, George has already agreed to do that on the Democrats' social security measure which the President opposes. The Finance Committee also has jurisdiction over tax bills.

The House chiefs who reached the unannounced decision to press for a tax cut at this session regardless of the President's opposition are: Speaker Sam Rayburn, Tex., Floor Leader John McCormack, Mass., and Representatives Jere Cooper, Tenn., and Wilbur Mills, Ark., chairman and senior member of the Ways and Means Committee, which originates such legislation.

The group came to this agreement at a meeting in Rayburn's office.

The Secret Plan — Basis of the Democrats' decision is that recent widely-publicized report of a possible two to four billion dollar Treasury surplus by June 30, end of the current fiscal year.

Representatives Cooper and Mills pointed out that a surplus of this magnitude would permit both a reduction of the huge national debt and a tax cut. "It's clearly evident," said Cooper, "that Treasury Secretary Humphrey greatly underestimated the surplus when he told us last winter it would be between $200,000,000 and $400,000,000. The apparent facts are the surplus may be as much as ten times that amount."

"If the surplus is in excess $2,000,000,000 as it is virtually certain to be," added Mills, "that opens the way for both reducing the national debt and cutting taxes, particularly for the lower-income brackets. The best way to benefit them would be to increase the personal exemption by another $100; from $600 to $700 for every taxpayer."

Mills estimated this would reduce revenues by more than $2,000,000,000.

"I've been hearing hints that the Republicans may spring a tax bill of their own despite those contrary pronouncements by the White House and Secretary Humphrey," declared Floor Leader McCormack. "We don't want to forget this is an election year, and once it is certain the surplus is in the billions, the GOP won't be above pulling a tax cut out of their hat. They have done that before."

McCormack advised getting everything set to offer a Democratic tax measure when the time appears ripe.

"By the middle of May," said Mills, "we should be able to arrive at a pretty good idea of what the surplus will be. Once we know that, we can act fast. We will offer our measure and beat the Republicans to it."

Speaker Rayburn stressed the importance of reducing the $275,000,000,000 national debt.

"It's essential we should resume paring down the federal debt," said the Texas. "The sooner that's done the better. At the same time, it will do the country a lot of good to cut taxes by raising the personal exemption. That will be a tremendous help to people by enabling them to buy for cash instead of credit, as they are doing under this Administration."

Sparks — The Air Force's new F-104A supersonic jet fighter can easily exceed that 1132 mph world speed record recently set by Britain's "Droop Snoot" jet fighter. The Starfighter has been flown a number of times at around 1500 mph. But for security reasons, Air Force authorities are barring a public speed demonstration.

Rural Electrification Administrator Anchor Nelson will definitely run for Governor. The Minnesotan won't formally announce until June or July, but his campaign is already quietly underway. Nelson will have the full backing of President Eisenhower in trying to unseat Governor Orville Freeman, the Democratic-Farmer-Laborite who won a surprise victory two years ago. In preparation for Nelson's departure, the White House is considering a number of possibilities as his successor in REA. Heading the list is Daryl Dunn, Kansas director of the Farmers Home Administration.

Five School Boards Criticize Failure Of State Appropriations

Each Forced To Borrow Needed Money

BRODHEADSVILLE—School directors from five West End townships strongly criticized State failure to pay school appropriations last night.

Members of Polk, Ross, Eldred, Hamilton and Chestnut Hill township boards also urged the State legislature to include an interest factor as part of overdue payments when they are issued.

By the end of the current school year, the boards said, they will have been forced to borrow an estimated $111,000. All of the borrowing has been caused by failure of the State to make routine payments due the schools as reimbursement.

The big hitch in this scheme, of course, is that school boards have to pay interest—ranging from three to six percent—on the money they borrow. Unless the State acts to prevent it, all of the interest will have to come out of the boards' own funds. Most of them have no extra funds to fall back on.

Unanimously

Action by the five boards was taken, unanimously, at a meeting last night in Chestnut Hill School here. It was on a motion for a resolution submitted by Mrs. Muriel Hildabrant, Ross, and seconded by Hamilton's Thomas Rogers.

The joint resolution said: "The members of Chestnut Hill, Eldred, Hamilton, Polk and Ross Township School Boards, Monroe County, acting jointly, go on record protesting the further delay in payments of appropriations for the operation of schools from the Commonwealth.

"Because of the failure by the State to pay normal appropriations, all of the five school districts mentioned herein have been forced to borrow funds. This borrowing has been unavoidable and absolutely necessary so that school systems in the five districts could be kept in operation.

"As members of school boards which have been greatly affected by the lack of State aid in the current school year, we also wish to go on record urging legislators and the Governor of the Commonwealth to include as a part of appropriations payments a fair interest factor which would simply be added to overdue payments when these payments are made to districts.

"This step is needed to avoid further hardships for school districts already badly pressed for funds. Immediate action on both proposals is needed if school services are to be continued at their maximum efficiency."

Borrow

Boards present at the meeting said they had been forced to borrow at least once during the current school year to keep schools operating. Some of the boards said they had borrowed twice and are being forced to borrow again.

Amounts borrowed by the end of the year, as estimated by board members from the districts, would be: Chestnut Hill—$20,000; Eldred—$14,000; Hamilton—$35,000; Polk—$22,000; Ross—$20,000.

Each board will have to pay about three percent interest on the borrowed funds. No allowance for these interest payments has yet been made by the State Legislature.

Employment Figures Up In Locality

TOTAL non-agricultural employment in the Pocono area as of mid-March was estimated at 13,550, an increase of 400 over the total reported for the December-January report period.

The figure was also 1,050 more than the number reported working a year ago, according to Manager John P. Dougherty of the local Pennsylvania State Employment Service office.

In its periodic review of current employment developments and prospects, PSES attributed the increase over the December-January report to hiring in printing, metal manufacturing industries, and in special government projects.

Increases in non-agricultural employment over a year ago occurred in the metal manufacturing industries as well as expansion in several government agencies. This was in addition to minor gains in most local industries caused by improved economic conditions. Some losses in employment were experienced in the apparel and textile industries from a year ago.

Monroe and Pike County Schools expect to graduate 402 students this year. Of this number, 196 are male. Seventy-seven of the total number of graduates are commercial students. This group will alleviate in part the current shortage of clerical personnel for local industry.

Of the graduates, 129 have indicated they will enter some field of higher education and the remaining 273 are expected to become available for employment. Using employment office job orders as a criteria, shortages of help have developed in several of the resort occupations—others are expected to develop.

Current shortages now listed are for waitresses, waiters, and cooks needed for the long-season hotels.

Manufacturing employment is expected to maintain its present level of employment for the next two months, although some layoffs are likely to occur in one or two apparel plants. Some employees in this industry are now working three or four days per week. Gains in employment are expected to occur in the resort and construction industries.

THE CAR at the left crashed into the parked auto on N. Seventh St., near Thomas, yesterday afternoon, when its driver lost control of the vehicle while pulling out of a parking space. Stroudsburg Police said the driver was Richard T. Mansfield, 25, of 917 Church St., and they identified the owner of the parked auto as J. N. Smith of Ransberry Ave., East Stroudsburg.

Light Damage In Two-Car Accident

A CAR operated by a 25-year-old Stroudsburg motorist, crashed into an auto parked on N. Seventh St., near Thomas, at 3:45 p.m., yesterday when his hand slipped off the steering wheel.

Borough police explained that Richard T. Mansfield, of 917 Church St., was pulling out of a parking space when his hand slipped off the wheel, causing his vehicle to hit the other car parked on the opposite side of the street. Police said the other auto was owned by J. N. Smith, of Ransberry Ave., East Stroudsburg.

Although a wrecker was required to pull the two vehicles apart, only the right front fender of the Smith car was damaged, police reported.

All Churches Represented

ALL OF the Presbyterian Churches in Monroe County were represented at the meeting of Lehigh Presbytery held yesterday in Hazleton. There were 220 women registered. Mrs. J. Russell Craig, Bethlehem, was re-elected as president.

Mrs. J. A. LeBar and Mrs. Claude W. Leister, both of Stroudsburg, were re-elected to their posts as treasurer and secretary of missions, respectively. In her report Mrs. LeBar announced that the Presbytery had contributed $7,090 during the year to missions in gifts from 36 women's associations.

Life Membership
Mrs. Gorman Roof, Brainerd Center, was presented with a life membership in Presbytery.

Accident Causes $75 Damage

ABOUT $75 damage was caused at 4:25 p.m. yesterday in a two-car collision at Ninth and Tenth Sts. in Stroudsburg.

Borough police said a 1949 sedan, operated by Paul B. Felleger, 16, of Stroudsburg RD1, crashed into the rear of an auto driven by Marion Counterman, 20, of East Stroudsburg RD3. There were no injuries, police said.

Local Cancer Crusade Fourth 'Over Top'

MONROE County's Cancer Crusade is the fourth in Pennsylvania to go "over the top", according to a report issued yesterday.

Results of this year's Monroe campaign were markedly different from those in the 1955 drive. Last year Monroe County finished its drive 42nd in line.

Chester S. Miller, chairman for the Monroe County crusade this year, said that the "overwhelming success of the drive has been due to the excellent cooperation from everyone who had anything to do with the campaign." Miller pointed specifically to the "fine spirit" and "great results" of workers in the house-to-house drive on "Cancer Monday", April 16.

Last Friday
The local unit topped its State-designated quota last Friday, Miller said. No final report has been made, as yet however, on the progress of the drive toward its full local goal of $6,100. Miller indicated last night that this goal will probably be surpassed.

Monroe County came in fourth in the race to finish the drive, trailing only McKean, Fulton and Butler, Miller said.

U. S. farmers used 16 billion gallons of crude oil in 1955.

Chamber Membership Drive Turns Into 'Roaring Success'

A FIVE-DAY membership drive for Pocono Mountains Chamber of Commerce turned out to be a "roaring success" yesterday.

Tom Campbell, drive chairman, said that 58 new members had been enrolled "along Main Sts. in both boroughs in the county."

Results of the campaign apparently topped all previous records for Chamber recruitment. The drive ended, officially, yesterday at 4 p.m., after getting started Monday.

Chamber directors deliberately planned the drive so that it would be "short, intensive and loaded with impact." Campbell said it had definitely had the desired effect.

The chairman credited a large part of the success of the drive to the fact that Chamber board members were doing the work themselves. If anyone can sell the Chamber, he said, it should be the directors.

Indications
Indications last night were that another dozen or more new members might be enrolled during the next few days, Campbell said. Campbell praised the two top teams in the "contest" for new members highly.

Captains of the two teams were William H. Clark and Clifford Cramer. Serving on the Clark team were: A. M. Price, Ray Price Sr., Roy Houser, Ted Hoffman, Leon Koster, Edwin Hughes, Glenn Sanborn Jr., E. C. Jenkins, and Frank S. LaBar.

Members of Cramer's team were: Hanford Cleveland, Frank Michaels, John Dunkelberger, J. L. Cohen, Les Drake and Harry Ahnert.

Just Between Us

—by Bobby Westbrook

A paradox of modern life is that all the programs on parental responsibility, the Christian Hope, juvenile delinquency or how to get along with your children stress the importance of doing things together. But the same organizations—PTA, church, civic club—which sponsor the programs and agree with the sentiment are the very things that make parents so busy they can't stay home.

In the long run, I suppose it does us good, but it always seems a little inconsistent to rush the children through supper, cut short their clowning and go tooting off to a meeting to learn how to get to know them better.

Which is why it was so heartening this week to have two programs that pulled parents and children together instead of driving them in separate directions. The family square dance at Clearview was one and the Music Parents family supper was another. There whole families were richer, I think, for sharing a common experience and getting to know each other's friends, and they did have fun.

But speaking of family difficulties, I do wonder how the woman

THE Wyckoff SHOPPER

Every once in a while it is my profound pleasure to encounter someone who is just as informative as an encyclopedia, and decidedly more attractive and interesting. Such was the case yesterday when I was summoned down to Sears to meet Mr. Charles Konopa, who travels all over the United States representing Sears' parent office in Chicago and demonstrating Sears wares. Charlie, as he prefers being called, is the guest of our store this weekend, and is introducing our customers to the pleasures and inexpensive luxury of outdoor cooking.

That word "introducing" is used advisedly, I think . . . for, while many local people have charcoal grills, all too few are getting the maximum efficiency from them at the lowest possible cost. "As a matter of fact," Charlie Konopa will tell you, "you can enjoy the superior flavor of charcoal cooking at a cost no greater than you would pay for the use of your gas or electric range." In the first place, most novices are too lavish with their use of charcoal . . . and many of them do not realize that it can be used over and over again.

Charlie suggests that gravel be used as insulation in the bottom of the larger charcoal pits, or a sheet of aluminum foil in the case of a small portable style where weight must be considered. These agents reflect the heat upward. To begin his first without a waste of charcoal, Charlie follows the Indian principle of stacking the fuel tepee style, a trick accomplished by dropping the charcoal into a four sided vegetable grater, the openings of which furnish just the proper amount of draft. The charcoal lighting fluid is poured over this (not too lavishly) and ignited. Later the grater is lifted off and the charcoal is spread around with tongs. At this point, Charlie emphasizes the fact that, if only one section of the grill is being used, only one section of the pit need be heated. "After all," he says, "you don't turn on four burners of the stove to make one pot of coffee—so why use more charcoal than you require?"

There are two ways of salvaging the charcoal when cooking is finished. It can be dumped into a pan of water, cooled and dried for several days; or it can be scooped into an empty lard can or similar container with snug lid. After about 15 minutes the embers die, starved of oxygen. The charcoal then cools and is ready to use another day.

Charlie, who has traveled everywhere a previous position with the United States Department of State, and has become a connoisseur of fine foods, tells me that charcoal cooking is the most popular method in use at the present time. At least one third of the world prepares its food in this manner, and the Japanese have perfected it until it has become a fine art there. His personal enthusiasm for his work is boundless, and his preference is, naturally, for the combination grill and electrically-motivated spit. As we talked, a juicy fragrant ham revolved on the 49.95 brass designator as "the Chuck Wagon" at 29.95, two tiny fowls browned temptingly.

Browning foods, says Mr. Konopa, is a problem to many housewives. To give his roasts that additionally enticing appearance, he uses a touch of a good quality soy sauce on ribs, other roasts and poultry, or a rather heavy dusting of paprika. The result is a fragrance and appearance that are out of this world. Incidentally, Sears' motorized spits turn exactly six times a minute. Long study has proved this the ideal speed for perfect basting. At a greater speed fat will splatter; at a slower pace it runs off into the drip pan. When roasts are not fat, Charlie recommends tying pieces of beef suet to beef cuts, or pork fat to other meats.

How much must one invest in order to begin outdoor cooking on a sensible scale? As much as one wishes—or as little, says our expert. Absolute essentials are, of course, the grill which can cost as little as 2.98; the charcoal, 98c for ten pounds; tongs, for handling hot coals, etc., at 49c to 1.49; a long-handled turner at 1.00 or 1.29; several kitchen grates at 25c; and fluid lighter at 49c. In all, it can be a project involving less than 10.00. "And that's not very much when you consider the fun and good eating that follow," says Charlie.

He's right. Just meet him today, and be convinced!

Also two eighth graders from Our Lady of Mt. Carmel Parochial School, which is the elementary system of Pius X High School, and two Lower Mt. Bethel Independent District eighth graders who attend Easton Public Schools.

YOUR QUALIFIED INSURANCE AGENT

Dear Sir:

We have completed
our analysis of your insurance coverage and we are pleased to tell you that it is correct and adequate.

As years go by and we add to our worldly possessions, most folks buy insurance from time to time to protect those possessions. Thus, the average person's insurance program is built up piecemeal. Consequently, many of us are not SURE about this coverage at any given time.

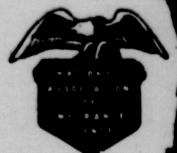

Occasionally, we ask ourselves, "Am I protected in this or that set of circumstances?" "Should I have a lower deductible figure on my automobile insurance?" Truly, there are a multitude of such questions. And the answers—CORRECT AND CONCISE—are as near as your telephone.

As qualified independent insurance agents, we are ready at all times to make such an analysis of your insurance without obligation. If your insurance coverage is adequate and fairly priced, we'll tell you so. If it is incomplete, we'll make recommendations. The choice, then, is yours BUT YOU WILL KNOW FOR SURE!

Stroud Union Band Presents Spring Concert

STROUD Union Senior Band presented its annual Spring concert last night in the auditorium of the district high school in Stroudsburg.

John Pyle, conductor of the band, led the students in a wide selection of numbers which included marches, overtures and standard popular tunes.

Student Leader

Peter Westbrook, the student leader, conducted the "PMEA March" by Davenport. Ernest Michelfelder Jr. was the soloist in Harry Simeone's "Trumpet in the Night."

Other numbers included: "National Spirit March," "Mississippi Suite Overture" by Ferde Grofe, "Holiday Tune," "Moods Interlude," "Parade of the Clowns" by David Rose, "God of Our Fathers," "Blue Mist," "American Folk Suite," "Jugoslav Polka," "Jesu, Joy Of Man's Desiring" by Bach and "Parading the Brass" by Osling.

Oil Shares Feature High Stock Market

NEW YORK, April 27 (AP)—Strong oil shares featured a substantially higher stock market today.

The rise was accomplished on expanded volume, and there was a bullish air about proceedings. Gains of 3 to 5 points were found in key places, and there were many stocks up 1 to 3 points.

Higher with the oils were the railroads, chemicals, aircrafts, rubbers, and several other divisions, including meat packers.

Although nothing was really depressed, both the motors and the steels suffered from late profit-taking. Steelworkers gave notice they would demand higher wages in a new agreement.

Cement

Cement stocks were kicked ahead when the House approved a bill calling for a vast highway construction program.

Corporate reports of high profits and sales continued to sweeten the market, and stocks responded readily.

The Associated Press average of 40 stocks was up $1.40, best rise in more than a month. The industrial component added $3.10, railroads were up 60 cents at a new high since 1929 of $151.40, and the utilities remained unchanged.

The market wasn't particularly broad with 1,195 individual issues traded of which 635 were higher and 336 lower. Ninety stocks made new highs for the year and 30 touched new lows.

The American Stock Exchange was higher on volume of 1,380,000 shares as compared with 1,430,000 shares traded yesterday.

Corporate bonds were higher while U. S. government issues were mixed.

Red Cross To Meet

ANNUAL meeting of the Monroe County Chapter of the American Red Cross will be held May 3 at 6:30 p.m. in the YMCA building, Stroudsburg. It will be a dinner meeting with all members — and that includes all those who contributed a dollar or more to its support.

Henry Schier, attorney, from Allentown, is to be the guest speaker. He has been active in Red Cross work for many years and has been chairman of the Allentown Chapter and of its home service committee among other responsible posts. He is also known as an entertaining speaker.

Election

Election of officers will be held for the coming year, and a class of Gray Ladies will be presented with certificates of service.

Reservations for the dinner should be made with the Red Cross headquarters. Those who wish to attend the meeting but are unable to come to the dinner are welcome to join the group at 8 p.m.

This chapter has 462 members, including a number from Monroe County.

This is the second time Kiefer has been honored to be one of the six directors of the Lehigh Valley Chapter.

Monday Due Date For Three Internal Revenue Forms

DISTRICT Director of Internal Revenue F. P. Graham today reminded employers and business organizations that Monday is the due date for filing Social Security tax forms 941 and 942, and excise tax forms 720 for the quarter ended March 31.

Where the taxes exceed $100 a month, deposits must be made with a Government depositary. A civil penalty is provided for willful failure to make monthly deposits of taxes. Employers are urged to file returns and make payments timely to avoid delinquency penalties.

Since his office is receiving many inquiries from farm employers concerning the filing of their returns, Graham said, "Cash wages paid in 1956 for agricultural labor will not be reported

Large Pilot Snake Killed In Sciota

SCIOTA, A Pilot Snake, 38 inches long, was shot and killed by Postmaster Carl Dennis this week after it came out from behind a stone wall in the back yard of the store and postoffice.

Dennis was carrying a ladder to make repairs when he almost stepped on the reptile.

The cats in the yard gathered around to see the spectacle, but were afraid of it after making attempts to play with the wriggling object. Presence of the snake made the number of spectators looking on believe that we will have warmer weather.

Rev. Harold Eaton officiated. Burial was made in Stroudsburg cemetery. Pallbearers were Chester Adams, George Green, Frank Talasz, Vincent, George and Albert Henry.

Mrs. Clair Wallingford had a novel experience while hanging up clothes Monday. A big Canadian Wild Goose came walking out the road with his head stretched high. She followed him until he left the road and went in a field towards the woods. He evidently must have had his wing hurt or he didn't attempt to fly and Elsie was within a few feet of him. It is thought he came from the lake at Camp

Here is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your future. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

Mule Track Team Still Seeks Win

ALLENTOWN—The Muhlenberg track team has competed in three meets this Spring, and has yet to break into the win column. In their opener, the Mule track team bowed to Albright, 92-53. Berg produced only one clear-cut winner against the Lions—Bob Lee, who breezed home first in the 100-yard dash. Clint Jeffries and Denny Roth tied for first with Albright's Slapkas in the high jump.

F&M topped the Bergman, 75-51. Sophomore Bill Kile started for the Mules by capturing first in three events—the one-half mile, the mile and the two mile. Ted March garnered another first for 'Berg in the shotput, and Dick Williams won top honors in the discus toss.

Bisons Win
Bucknell topped the Mules, 85½ to 39½. Bill Kile again stood for the Cardinal and Gray, picking off wins in both the mile and two mile events. March and Jeffries were the only other Mules to grab firsts.

PM League Opens Tomorrow

THE POCONO MOUNTAINS Baseball League will swing into action for the first time in 1956 tomorrow with all 10 teams scheduled for inaugural play.

Home games are slated for Readers, Stroudsburg, Saylorburg, West End A. C., and Bushkill. The opening day card finds Anamokim at Readers; Tannersville at The Strouds at Gordon Giffels Field, Stroudsburg; Lake Harmony at Saylorburg; Barret at West End A. C.; and Kunkletown at Bushkill.

It will be the 11th inaugural for the post-war Pocono Mountain circuit. At one time the league team roster was up to 12 teams but the past two years its been maintained at the 10-club rate.

Ray Davies, of Stroudsburg, is president of the Class A loop. John Wernet, of Saylorburg, is secretary.

Frank Grimm's tennis team downed Kutztown in a meeting between the two schools earlier in the season. George Ockerhausen's nine will be out to avenge its only loss of the season.

Undeclared Champion Of Heavyweights Bows To Wishes Of Wife And Parents

By JACK HAND

NEW YORK, April 27 (AP)—Rocky Marciano retired today as heavy-weight champion of the world, unbeaten in his 49 pro fights, to spend more time with his wife and baby daughter at his Brockton, Mass., home.

If Rocky can resist the lure of a comeback, he will be the only unbeaten heavy titleholder ever to quit without losing a pro fight or even boxing a draw. Gene Tunney made it stick when he stepped down in 1926, but he had been beaten earlier in his career by Harry Greb, Jim Jeffries, a non-loser when he retired, tried to come back and was knocked out by Jack Johnson. Joe Louis also failed in a comeback attempt.

Marciano, who admitted he will be 33 on Sept. 21, said he weighed only 212 pounds, about 25 over his normal fighting weight. He insisted physical condition had nothing to do with his decision to stop fighting.

Reasons
"I am retiring because of my wife and Mary Anne (his 3½-year-old daughter)," said Marciano at a hastily called news conference after his wife, Barbara, already had released the news to the Associated Press. "Actually I feel good. I still have some good fights left in me."

"My mother never did want me to fight," said Rocky. "My decision puts her very much at ease. My father always liked boxing but he's happy to see me quit."

Rocky Marciano

"Barbara has been after me to quit for some time. After the Don Cockrell fight (in San Francisco, May 16, 1935) we spent a month together and I had to be introduced to the baby every time I went home. I never spent more than two weeks in a row at home."

"Even before the Archie Moore fight this last match, Sept. 21, 1935) I was thinking about retirement. After the fight I really began to consider it seriously. I think I would be taking advantage of my family if I tried to fight any more. At first, I was single. It didn't make any difference then. But the baby makes a lot of difference."

In the ring, Marciano was a scowling, crag-faced man with a nervous habit of licking his lips while he destroyed an opponent. But it was Rocky, the family man, who was making this decision today.

Who did Marciano think should succeed him as champion? Rocky named three men—Archie Moore, Floyd Patterson and Hurricane Jackson—as possibilities.

Likes Moore
"Moore I happen to know about because I fought him," he said. "He's a good tough man, punches good and takes a good punch. The others I've seen on television. Patterson seems to be getting a big boost from everybody. And the Hurricane has a good chance."

Ring Magazine's latest ratings show Moore as top contender followed by Jackson, Bob Baker of Pittsburgh, John Holman of Chicago and Johnny Summerlin of Detroit. The NBA quarterly ratings put Jackson behind Marciano, followed by Baker, Nino Valdes of Cuba with "honorable mention" to Holman, Summerlin and four others. They rate Moore only as a light-heavy.

Rommel 1st Ump To Wear Glasses

BALTIMORE, April 27 (AP)—Not that he'd care to brag about it, but it was Ed Rommel and not Frank Umont who was the first major league umpire to wear eyeglasses in a regular game.

So Paul Menton, sports editor of the Baltimore Evening Sun, wrote today.

A story that Umont was the first to wear spectacles in the Detroit-Kansas City game Tuesday prompted Menton to recall Rommel had told him he wore them on April 18 at the New York Yankee game in Washington.

Phillies Set Up 'Policing' System

PHILADELPHIA, April 27 (AP)—The Philadelphia Phillies have set up an anti-rumormongering system to prevent a recurrence of last Sunday's bottle-throwing shenanigans during the Phillies - New York Giants doubleheader.

At last night's Phils-Pirates game, the Phillies management disclosed they had established a system to "police" the crowd.

Norm Siebern, Yankee rookie outfielder, received 139 walks in 137 games with Joplin, Mo., in 1932.

Physical Examinations Important:

Checkup Fights Cancer Foe

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the sixth in a series of stories on "Seven Hope Cases" in Monroe County, pointing to the fact that cancer can be cured through early diagnosis and early treatment. The stories of these seven men and women are typical of thousands all over America today. The names of patients have been changed.

By Leonard Randolph
ALTHOUGH THE seven danger signals emphasized by the American Cancer Society serve as accurate warnings, they are not the best insurance you have against cancer.

That's one reason the Society chose as its slogan this year: "Fight Cancer with a Checkup—and a Check."

The second part of the slogan is obviously needed to help the ACS get the funds it needs. These funds provide a broad program of education and research on the national level and service in local communities.

But by far the most vital thing the ACS could say to the potential cancer victim is contained in the first half of the slogan.

Nothing can replace the thorough physical examination as a cancer detector. Only through regular physical checkups is it possible to find early cancer—before any of the "danger signals" occur.

Important
The danger sign is immensely important in the detection of cancer. Many times, however, cancer is found in the course of an ordinary physical examination conducted as part of regular routine.

Very often a doctor, looking for no particular symptom, finds an early cancer almost by accident. Once the sign of cancer is seen, even without patient discomfort or any known symptoms of cancer, early and immediate action against the disease becomes possible.

This was true in the case of John B., a 77-year-old Monroe County man. John was retired from business. Yet he still made semi-annual physical checkup a part of his normal routine.

He appeared to be in excellent health. Unlike many retired persons, he had maintained an active interest in a variety of things. His hobby was "enjoying life," he once told his minister, and he worked hard at it.

In 1950 he went to his doctor's office for a physical. It was a warm Spring day and John, as usual, had a sense of well-being. He greeted the doctor with a joke he had just heard from the policeman on the corner. John went through the examination, talking about politics—one of his favorite subjects. He listened intently as the doctor talked about the possibility that he might need "a few vitamins". John smiled to himself. He had always had the feeling he was a good deal healthier than the doctor.

It was during the course of a brief rectal examination that the doctor noted a slight bleeding. Although the elderly man had been plagued by mild, recurring hemorrhoids some years earlier, there had been noticeable bleeding for some time. The doctor decided to check more extensively.

The examination led the doctor to believe that the bleeding came from a small area in the lower bowel. He asked John to go to General Hospital. The elder man laughed, but did as he was told.

Operation
Two days later a small polyp—a slight, abnormal lump of tissue—was removed from the bowel by a surgeon at the hospital. Analysis of the tissue showed the growth "was becoming cancerous." In another six months, it might have been a deadly serious problem.

Not all cancers are cured so easily. In the field of cancer detection, not all patients are fortunate in having a physician who is "cancer conscious."

Yet the lifesaving advantage of early diagnosis and early treatment is being felt more and more each year in Monroe County. Much of this is due to advanced knowledge on cancer cure possibilities presented to both laymen and doctors by the local unit of the American Cancer Society.

Education, in the field of cancer treatment, has created a whole new threshold of hope. Beyond the doors opened by scientific research and medicine lie the promise of a dozen different advances in cancer.

Only time can fulfill that promise. Two decades ago, the idea that cancer in any form could be cured was considered only a "promise" by laymen, however. Today, it is no longer a part of the future. It is a fact.

Thanks to the education program of the Monroe County unit of the ACS, more and more local men and women—who have had no contact directly with cancer—are accepting that fact.
